POPE IS HEARD BY MILLIONS THURSDAY

RADIO MESSAGE OF
PEACE TO MANKIND
COMES FROM VATICAN

FIRST TIME IN HISTORY
VOICE OF PONTIFF HEARD
BY OUTSIDE WORLD

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12. (P)—For the first time in history the Pope today sent his voice to millions throughout the world in radio message of peace to mankind.

Smiling and tranquil as though he were a veteran of radio broadcasting, he spoke over HVJ, the new Vatican City station built for him by Guglielmo Marconi and inaugurated in celebration of the ninth anniversary of his coronation as Pope Plus XI.

Senator Marconi, introducing the pontiff, spoke briefly before the address for which men and women were listening in far distant cities of the world.

It was 10:52 o'clock (EST) when the Pope began speaking.

No longer a prisoner of the Vatican, this most modern of all popes sent his living voice to his congregation of three hundred million Catholics and the members of all other faiths.

His was a message of peace and union.

The second broadcast by Pope Plus was not accompanied by the whistle which marred parts of the first, but there was a slight fading at times.

At 11:50 a. m. the Pope ceased to speak. For the last few moments of the broadcast he had moved away from the microphone enough so his voice was indistinct at times.

A minute later HVJ signed off.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—(P)—Pope Plus XI spoke over the air today the words which opened ATTENTION THURS.

ANNUAL SUPPLY BILL CAME UP FOR AMENDMENTS
AFTER LONG DEBATE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(P)—Secretary Adams today conferred with Speaker Longworth on the navy's construction and modernization programs pending in the house.

As the navy department head went into the conference, he said he was "very hopeful" for passage of the battleship modernization bill calling for an outlay of $100,000,000 and a total of $74,000,000 construction program. Action has been delayed by house leaders to permit disposal of appropriation measures.

The senate has approved the modernization program.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(P)—The naval establishment held house attention today as the $344,000,000 annual supply bill came up for amendment after three days of general debate.

With its passage expected late today, however, the house will have cleared all necessary appropriation bills from its calendar. Then it will make necessary plans to consider the $30,000,000 battleship modernization bill sponsored by the administration and already approved by the senate.

Although the house rules committee has deferred giving the modernization program legislative right of way, Chairman Britton of the house naval committee pre-

State Rests in
Trial of Woman
Killing Doctor

SULPHUR SPRINGS, Feb. 12. (P)—The state rested its case today in the trial of Mrs. Lydia Robinson, charged with slaying Dr. E. M. Payne, dentist, who was shot to death on the stairs leading to his office.

Judge L. L. Bowman overruled a motion of the defendant for a continuance, when the case was called yesterday.

Nine witnesses testified for the state and a large number had been summoned by the defense. The state failed to produce an eye-witness to the shooting.

Both Dr. Payne and Mrs. Robinson were widely-known in Hopkins county, where they had resided many years, and much interest is being shown in the trial with spectators filling the court room.

HOUSE COMMITTEE HEARS OPPOSITION NATURAL GAS BILL

CRANFILL AND OTHERS OPPOSED BILL GIVING COMMISSION POWERS

AUSTIN, Feb. 12.—(P)—The house committee on oil, gas and mining last night heard criticism of the bill by Representative Long of Wichita Falls designed to give the railroad commission added powers to conserve natural gas.

Hearings on the bill were to be continued today with the probable conclusion that the bill would be sent to a committee for rewriting.

Tom E. Cranfill of Dallas, president of the Texas Independent Petroleum Association, J. H. Trickey of Fort Worth, representing independent operators, Harry Pennington, San Antonio independent and Clarence R. Wharton of Houston, attorney for the Texas Land and Oil Company were all opposed the bill.

Speakers expressed the opinion that under the bill operators would have to shut down their oil wells if they could not get a market for their gas. The bill was attached as giving too many regulatory powers to the commission and causing too much additional expense for the operators.

W. Parker, supervisor of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, who sponsored the bill, said its purpose was to fix the oil-gas ratio so that gas would not be wasted. Wharton told Parker he believed the commission already had the power to prevent the using of more pressure gas than necessary to lift the oil to the surface.

BRITISH COLUMBIA LIQUOR BUSINESS SHOWING DECREASE

VICTORIA, B. C., Feb. 12.—(P)—Showing its first decrease in history, British Columbia liquor business dropped more than $100,000 a month in the six months ending September 30. Liquor board reports filed in the legislature here showed today.

Sales totaled $7,847,961, as against $8,454,710 in the corresponding period of 1929, a drop of $606,749. This would represent a decrease of $1,213,408 for the year, ending March 31, but officials said they expected the shrinkage to be much larger because of a decline in sales during the cold winter.

The taste of British Columbians and their tourist visitors in liquor was indicated by the division of purchases in the last fiscal year, as follows:

Spirits $8,984,113; liquors and cocktails $231,559; port, sherry, Burgundy, claret and sauterne $365,321; champagnes and sparkling wines $1,404; Ontario wines $31,191; British Columbia wine $369,655; Oriental liquors $458,982; British Columbia beer and ale, and stout at beer parlors $2,837,841, which is the board's selling price to licensees, who make an unknown profit in addition; and at liquor stores $2,845,792; imported ale and stout $259,929.

Chinese Smoke
60,000,000,000
Cigarettes Year

EXPECT RENEWAL EFFORTS TO REMOVE WENTZ FROM PLACE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—(P)—

Only figures of astronomical bulk can compare the total of Chinese cigarette consumption with the commerce department's work it out.

Last year it is officially calculated, Chinese smokers burned up 60,000,000,000 of the little tobacco rolls, obtaining about 93 per cent of the tobacco content from the United States.

Only about nine billion elects a year are now made in the United States for China; factories, mostly foreign owned, have grown up along the Orange Coast in recent years to supply the trade.

MOTORIZED FIRE EQUIPMENT SAVES CORSICANA CITIZENS INSURANCE COSTS ANNUALLY

In the past seventeen years, the Corsicana Fire Department has undergone numerous changes, improvements and remodeling, and its equipment has kept pace with the progress of the city until at present more than $70,000 in equipment is available for fire fighting purposes.

The continuous additions of equipment have been means of saving the citizens of this city more than $100,000 annually according to figures prepared recently by Fire Chief Elmer Keith.

Each piece of equipment represents a saving to the city and the premium payers of the town, through a reduction of costs of insurance. Additional credits are secured by the commodious central station and the No. 2 station on West Thirteenth avenue.

Without the equipment now owned by the city, premium payers in Corsicana would have to expend more than one hundred thousand dollars more than they are at present. Fire Chief Elmer Keith pointed out after compiling the figures, for the amount of fire-fighting equipment has a basic influence on the key rate of a city.

In addition, there is a possibility of a good fire record credit that will result in additional saving for the citizens. This saving with a three per cent credit in 1928 and 1929 amounted to more than $500 annually and with an increase of the credit to six per cent in 1930 the saving was raised to $1,800 per year.

First Motor Truck in 1914.

The first piece of motorized equipment, a pumper unit, was placed in service in the city in 1914 under the administration of J. L. Halbert as mayor. A few months afterward the truck was badly damaged in the fire that destroyed a portion of the Magnolia Refinery, and was rebuilt. Members of the purchasing committee were Mayor J. L. Halbert, C. M. Thornell, J. S. Murchison, R. L. Hamilton, and Fire Chief Rube Freedman. It cost $200.

In 1917, again under the Halbert administration, a second unit was purchased in the form of a chemical and hose wagon for use at the No. 2 station then located near the intersection of West Fifth avenue and North Twentieth street. Purchase price on this truck is

MURRAY DELIVERS ADDRESS ON 122ND LINCOLN BIRTHDAY

OKLAHOMA'S COLORFUL EX- ECUTIVE SPEAKER AT ME- MORIAL EXERCISES

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 12.—(P)—The spirit of Abraham Lincoln of '61 was pointed to as a need of the nation as it passes through various crises, by Gov. William H. Murray of Oklahoma in an address here Wednesday night at ceremonies commemorating the 122nd anniversary of the Civil War martyr's birth at Springfield.

The Oklahoma governor was speaking on a theme dear to his heart for throughout his colorful career in his adopted state bordering on the Red river he often has drawn from Lincoln for examples of courage and justice.

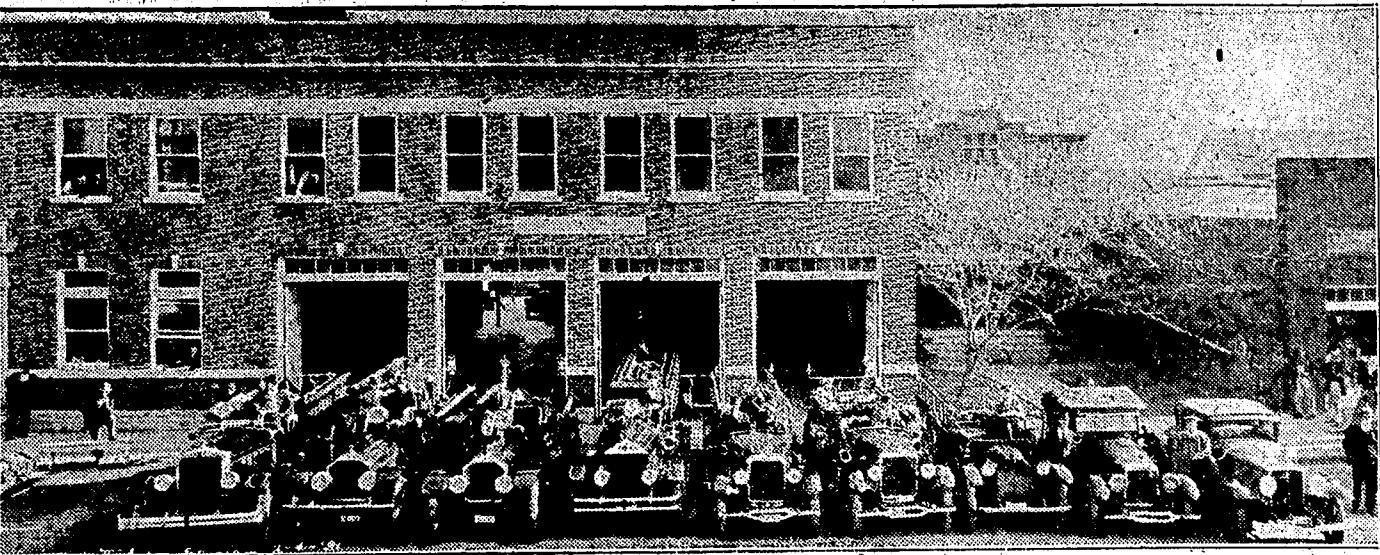

He quoted a statement made by Lincoln to Stephen Douglas on October 15, '58, as follows:

"That is the issue that will continue in this country when these poor tongues of Judge Douglas and myself shall be silent. It is the eternal struggle between two principles—right and wrong—throughout the world."

"There are two principles that have stood face to face in these poor tongues of Judge Douglas and myself shall be silent. It is the eternal struggle between two principles—right and wrong—throughout the world."

"It is the same spirit that said: 'Work and toil and earn bread'

THIS EQUIPMENT SAVES CORSICANA $100,000 ANNUALLY

Corsicana's Fire Department is now equipped with nine pieces of motorized equipment, capable of handling almost any type of blaze with maximum efficiency, gaining the city credits which net premium payers of the city more than $100,000 benefits each year.

The equipment includes three pumper units, a hook and ladder truck, two chemical trucks, a reserve hose wagon, and two chief's car, which is distributed between the central and suburban stations.

Other Units Added.

Two chemical, hose wagons were added to the department in 1926, under the administration of Mayor J. S. Murchison and Commissioners R. L. Wheelock, Will Thompson, J. L. Marshall and R. D. Fleming, at a cost of $4500 each. One of these was assigned to the new No. 2 station on West Thirteenth avenue, also built under this administration.

In 1928, the city purchased one of the latest type pump units and a hook and ladder truck to complete the fire-fighting equipment. The pump unit cost $12,500, and the hook and ladder $7,750. This equipment was purchased by Mayor R. L. Wheelock, and Commissioners W. C. Stroube, W. P. Brown, R. D. Fleming, and G. L. Tatum.

A new chief's car was purchased in 1931 and has just recently been put in service, bringing the actual value of the motor units to $66,450. In addition the hose stock of the department is valued at $8500, and other supplies including masks and other paraphernalia will run to several hundred dollars.

Can Stand Adversity But Woman Faints As Pocketbook Returned

Unemployment Was Greatly Relieved in League Past Month

TEAGUE, Feb. 12.—(Spl.)—The committee to handle the Teague Bureau for Relief of Unemployment, consisting of E. G. Lilley, chairman, John Riley, Wm. J. Stringer, has been very active.

Money collected in January enables the bureau to give employment for 214 man days, during which time the cleaning of the cemetery was completed, weeds were cleared from sidewalks on several streets in town, all of the alleys on the east side of the railroad track were cleaned, hauled off a large number of old automobile carcasses, which makes a total of 135 hauled off.

The speaker listed as important "vitamins" such as "high ideals," "deep convictions," "sympathy," and "sacrifice."

C. R. Niles was toastmaster for the evening. The high school orchestra played during the evening, while entertainers included Joe Betscher of Waco, a radio entertainer, and Frances Pullian, clever toe dancer from Teague.

Posed she summoned a policeman, and calmly she proceeded to tell him all about it. A young man walked up.

"Your pocketbook, Miss." Diamonds and cash were inside. Mrs. Brenner fainted dead away in the arms of Detective Sergeant Barrett.

"Lincoln then stated the same issue now confronting us. Criminal wealth and intrigue over man; the same 'eternal struggle of right and wrong' is made manifest as of yore. The evils of one is reflected in the evil effects of another—the one chained to bondage the other to the chariot wheels of industry. The one debasing the spirit of freedom, the other perishing by the super-abundance of its own productive power, offering want in the midst of plenty; poverty-stricken, in rags and hunger, caused by the abundant production of its own hands. This is today the same 'eternal struggle between right and wrong.'

A plea that the citizens of the United States not divide over party or creed, but united under Lincoln's call to the spirit of the dead—of the broken lines of Gettysburg defense, braving Pickett's heroic charge, was made by the speaker.

"Let us not longer divide over party or creed," Governor Murray said, "but unite under Lincoln's call to the spirit of the dead—of the broken lines of Gettysburg's defense, braving Pickett's heroic charge, that this nation, under a government of the people, for the people and by the people shall not perish from the earth."

"O, Father of All Mercies, Send us another Lincoln."

Texas Girl is Rewarded

WHEN children are weak and run-down, they are easy prey to colds or children's diseases. So it is never wise to neglect those weakening and depressing symptoms, such as bad breath, coated tongue, fretfulness, feverishness, biliousness, lack of energy and appetite, etc.

Nine times out of ten these things point to one trouble—constipation. Mothers all around you are coming right out in public to tell how their children are being relieved of this trouble by California Fig Syrup.

Mrs. W. E. Wagner, 5414 Santa Fe Ave., Dallas, says: "My mother always used California Fig Syrup, so I knew what to give my baby when I saw by her bad breath and coated tongue that she was constipated."

"She has been more than rewarded for taking Fig Syrup. It made her a well, happy girl promptly. She never complains of any symptoms of constipation now."

LIBERTY.

It is the theory of all modern governments that they protect and foster the liberty of the citizens; it is the practice of all of them to limit the exercise of that liberty, and sometimes very narrowly. This practice is denounced by the more extreme sort of libertarians as grossly hypocritical, and not infrequently they try to prove that it is also plainly illegal. What they overlook is the basic fact that liberty itself, like happiness, is very nebulous, and that no one has ever managed to draw up a satisfactory definition of it. Governments are thus forced to deal with it in a sketchy and pragmatic manner.

The reason is not far to seek. Liberty, if it means anything at all, means that body of rights which the citizen reserves to himself, even as against the government. It includes the right to do certain things without approval of the government, and the right to withhold the doing of certain other things. Thus a conflict is set up between the rights of the citizen and the power of the government.

For these reasons both citizen and government should handle liberty with care. The citizen should remember that his rights end where another's begin, and government should not fall into the dangerous course of attempting to establish customs by force of law, instead of permitting the natural development of laws from custom.

The difference between an anarchist and a liberator is that one is against all law and the other is against those laws which he believes unjust and tyrannical. There must be resistance to the tyranny of law before there can be liberty.

GREAT OPEN SPACES.

The day of the "great wide open spaces" is not yet past for the United States. In spite of the incursions of civilization there is still real wilderness left.

This is the solemn conclusion of the United States Forest Service after an exhaustive survey undertaken because certain people, strong in the primitive urge, had been getting a bit worried of late lest the zeal for summer resorts and motor roads might eat up the last of the wild lands.

With the rank urbanite one square mile of woodland, uninhabited and pathless, could pass as a wilderness. But those who know the woods might call such a virgin tract a "grove." As for the forest service, the standard it adopted for its survey was 360 square miles, or ten average townships.

The nation-wide hunt for wilderness netted 74 each ranging in area from 360 to 10,000 square miles. So there are still 74 places where those who would rough it can go to get away from traffic, silk stockings, bathtubs, newsboys and early morning milk wagons.

No, the forest service will not guarantee that one, on entering any of these forests primeval, flees from humanity itself. There are thousands of Americans and Europeans touring in America—looking for just such places as these "wildernesses" in which to make their vacation camps.

For those who like the primitive life America still affords it, and America was not all wilderness and Americans all frontiersmen so long ago that the great open spaces have lost their lure.

Being a coward isn't worth half so much as it costs.

JUST FOLKS

RESULT.

We live our little lives with countless frettings. Always our blunders leave us vain regrets. Always with careless step the toy is broken. We hold the tongue to find we should have spoken. We speak in vain when silence had been better. We wish we had or had not burned the letter. Nothing is clear—some morrow tells the story! Our least of deeds may be our greatest glory!

We think this good or bad but are not certain. Upon the future none can lift the curtain. There is upon this earth no sage adviser. Who will not leave us wishing he'd been wiser. No man can tell precisely what's the right thing; Joy and despair may hinge upon a slight thing. Here lies a task: we do it, or we shun it. And later wish we had or had not done it.

Turn right or left; go one way or another. Too late 'twill be to wish we'd gone the other. What lies an hour away we'll not discover. Until we've marched these sixty minutes over. There is no safety and no sure way ever. Word in advance tomorrow sends us never.

We can do our best when problems try us. And trust in God and time will justify us.

DIVORCE.

Disconcerting figures are cited in present-day studios of divorce in America. But the lesson which emerges from these inquiries is far from cheerful. They really leave the life expectancy of the family much better than they found it.

It is true that in 1870 there was one divorce for every 616 married couples and that last year there was one divorce for every 130 couples. It is true that no signs have as yet appeared of a slackening in the divorce rate. If the increase continues for the next 50 years at the rate of the last 50 there will be one divorce for every 30 married couples by 1980. But it will not. The rate has fallen off appreciably after the first sudden and drastic increase which began about the time divorce became respectable.

Seven functions of bonds serve to hold the family together. These ties are economic, religious, protective, educational, recreational, social, status and affectional. The first six have been greatly weakened by the advance of science and the industrial revolution. The family is no longer an economic unit; home industries are vanishing. The religious function has been greatly relaxed. Protection and education are now administered by the community. Recreation has virtually ceased to be a home-occupation and has become commercialized. Social status has lost most of its importance; social prestige is less of the family than the individual. Kinship ties sit lightly today.

To the extent to which the family still holds together the credit should go to the bond of affection. The cement of affection is more powerful than all the other six factors combined.

EMERGENCY JOBS.

Avidly and beneficially the federal government has jumped into the big job of relieving business depression and unemployment, appropriating hundreds of millions where millions were appropriated before and appropriations even at the expense of votes.

Will those governors, who now say there never before was such pressure for state jobs, and those federal, county and municipal departments which are putting men and women to work whether or not there is work to be done have the courage and the fairness to the taxpayers to return to pre-depression conditions when the emergency exists no longer? Or will they find it politically expedient to forget they were emergency jobs and appropriations?

When the present emergency passes the nation will find itself in a position comparable with post-war conditions, with thousands of surplus public jobholders, vast debts, a tax-weary populace and a public spoiled by governmental munificence. The government cannot escape this inevitability, for prosperity must be restored at all cost and until then the jobless must not suffer.

It is easier to multiply public jobs and pyramid public budgets than to abolish jobs and pare budgets. That truth was impressed forcefully upon the nation after the war when the government had to send home thousands of war-emergency workers and cut

BUYING.

INDIVIDUAL RESPONSIBILITY.

The art of selling may be enlarged, but in perfection of style, in variety of persuasion, it hardly needs addition. Not merely goods, but villages, cities, states are "sold"—so put before the eye and ear as to be irresistible.

Not so well developed, however, is the art of buying. We don't know how it is with the women, but simple, ordinary man, is more or less dazed and powerless as a buyer. If he fails to see what he wants, he takes something else, irrespective of quality or price.

Even the housekeeper too often lacks discipline and restraint. Though prices of goods are plainly marked in most shops, some of these impulsive souls will go elsewhere and buy the same product for more money.

What man, no matter how prudent ordinarily or even "mean" he be, hasn't bought again and again something he didn't want, missed again and again the opportunity to buy something he pined for? Does this come from deficiency of will? Does it come from alternate states of liberality and parsimony? Is want of logic and instability of temperament the cause? Or does good salesmanship explain it?

Granted that many customers are subject to haste, timidity, nervousness, the superior art of the seller might overpower the unpreparedness of even the bold, calm and deliberate on the other side of the counter. The need is for an art of buying developed to a high plane of the art of selling.

Avidly and beneficially the federal government has jumped into the big job of relieving business depression and unemployment, appropriating hundreds of millions where millions were appropriated before and appropriations even at the expense of votes.

Will those governors, who now say there never before was such pressure for state jobs, and those federal, county and municipal departments which are putting men and women to work whether or not there is work to be done have the courage and the fairness to the taxpayers to return to pre-depression conditions when the emergency exists no longer? ## THREE CORSICANA WOMEN ARRESTED ON CHARGES OF FRAUD

ALLEGED HAVE ORDERED GOODS AND SENT WORTHLESS CHECK IN PAYMENT

Three Corsicana women, residing in the southern part of the city, were arrested Monday afternoon and were taken to Dallas to face charges of the alleged using the United States mails to defraud by federal operatives. They were scheduled to have hearings before United States Commissioner Lee R. Smith Tuesday. The complaints were filed Monday in Dallas by R. R. Range, postal inspector, Corsicana. The arrests were made by Deputy United States Marshall Charles Becke of Dallas and Deputy Sheriff Jack Floyd of Navarro county.

It is alleged that the three women, one aged 26, another 29, and the third, 32, procured a number of merchandise orders from Sears, Roebuck and Company and National Bellas Hess company in Kansas City and Dallas and were said to have sent worthless checks in payment for the orders. Officers reported seven checks were sent, ranging from $29 to $32 each. It was reported that the alleged offenses occurred during the month of December, 1930.

Fifteen pairs of shoes, seven socks, footbals, toys, hats, sweatshirts and dress goods were recovered.

All of the women are mothers. One is divorced from her husband, officers stated, and another's husband was reported not living with his wife. The other resides with her husband and three children. The three children were with their father. The other two women arrested have two children each, and the children were taken by the Salvation Army officials when the mothers were arrested.

The cases may be disposed of Tuesday in the event that pleas of guilty are entered, officers stated, but if pleas of not guilty are entered, the cases will be set down for trial later.

The maximum penalty for such offenses is five years imprisonment and $1,000 fine, it was stated.

Kerens Intruder Fired Upon When Tries Enter Store

KERENS, Feb. 10.—(Spl.) Burglars have been at a low ebb here since Christmas. Monday morning about 4 o'clock however, some one broke the glass in a front window of Coates, Johnson and company's store No. 2 and would have succeeded in entering the place by raising the window from the inside had it not been for Nightwatchman Roy Jones, who was watching the proceedings from the opposite side of the street.

Mr. Jones fired five shots at the intruder.

The intruder left the front and was last seen going down the alley. Mr. Jones said he could not identify the man on account of the darkness.

Westbrook Heads Chamber Commerce Kerent For Year

KERENS, Feb. 10.—(Spl.) The board of directors for the local chamber of commerce met Monday night to elect officers for the ensuing year. E. M. Westbrook was elected president; E. B. Nettes, E. B. Reese, and Mike Kiser were elected vice-presidents and with the chairman will form the executive committee of the board. ## PRESIDENT GIVES PART OF SALARY TO RED CROSS RELIEF

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—(P.) President Hoover today gave ten per cent of his annual salary to the Red Cross for the drought sufferers.

Today's contributions were enlarged by the president's personal gift of $7,500. His salary as president is $75,000.

The drought fund now totals $7,303,116 toward the $10,000,000 goal set by the Red Cross.

Progress of the Red Cross relief fund will be reported on by a country-wide radio broadcast Thursday from 8:30 to 9 p.m. C.S.T. in a program arranged by the National Broadcasting company.

Chairman Payne, of the Red Cross, will speak from Washington. He will be followed by Governor Parnell of Arkansas, representing the state which has most readily answered the appeal for the drought-stricken. Parnell will speak from Little Rock and Case from Providence.

Local Red Cross Fund Grows Slowly

A decided jump in subscriptions to the local quota of the Red Cross drought relief fund was taken since Monday noon, the sum of $52 having been subscribed since the last accounting Monday.

As noted in the Associated Press dispatch from Washington, above, President Hoover has announced that he will give ten per cent of his annual salary to the Red Cross relief fund, and also the fact that the sum of $7,303,116 has been subscribed toward the total of $10,000,000 sought for drought relief.

The Navarro county quota is placed at only $1,000 and while subscriptions have been slow local Chairman Rev. H. J. Ellis, Tuesday expressed the belief that subscriptions would come in more liberally until the total sought is reached.

The total subscriptions to date are:

Mrs. F. L. Sellers ..... $ 2.00
A. M. Milligan ..... 25.00
Mr. and Mrs. Chas. H. Mills 25.00

Store Burned and Residence Damaged Two Monday Fires

Two fire alarms resulted in about $1,000 damage Monday evening. The first blaze resulted in about $15 damage to a rent house belonging to Dr. O. C. Bowmer at 815 West Tenth avenue about 6:30 Monday evening.

The second alarm was received about 11:40 Monday night and resulted in the total loss of a store operated by Mrs. Esther Blumrosen at 301 West Tenth avenue. The building was owned by Mrs. Esther Blumrosen and damage was estimated by fire Chief Elmer Keith at $750; loss on the stock was estimated at about $300. Loss was covered by insurance.

LOVED PASTRIES BUT SUFFERED IF SHE ATE THEM

"I like pies better than most any food, but I used to suffer when I ate pastry," says Mrs. Emma Brooks, 24 Morgan Blvd., New Orleans, La.

"I would have sick headaches; would belch, leaving a sour taste in my mouth; suffered a lot with gas on my stomach; had no appetite.

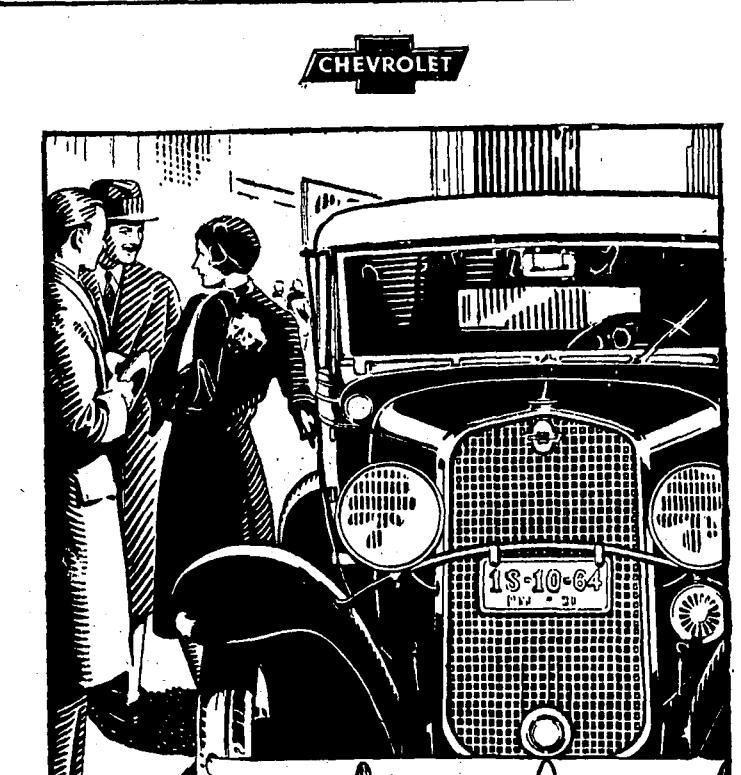

"I suffered like that from indigestion for over five years and tried all sorts of things for relief before my sister told me about Pape's Diapepsin.

"It took me right out of my indigestion. I now have a much better appetite, eat pastry or anything I want and have no after-effects. I will never forget Pape's Diapepsin, and recommend it to everyone I know."

If you suffer from indigestion, often or just occasionally, take a package of these candy-like tablets from your druggist. They stop heartburn, gas, stomach, belching, nausea, headaches or any other symptoms of indigestion soon as the trouble starts. They are harmless; form no habit; can be taken as often as needed.

SATURDAY EVENING

REGISTRATIONS AND DRAW-
ING WILL BE HELD FRI-DAY MORNING

The 1931 University of Texas Interscholastic League Navarro county class B basketball tournament will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court beginning Friday morning, Feb. 13, at 9 o'clock, and continuing until the consolation and semi-final games are played Saturday night, according to an announcement by L. N. Crabtree, State Coach, and athletic director of the league. The final game will be played on the Y. M. C. A. court Tuesday night.

No figures were available Thursday to show how many county teams will compete for the Class B title, but it is likely that over 20 teams will enter the tournament. Basketball is the principal sport in the county schools, and all the coaches for the past few months have been getting their teams in first class condition for the tournament. Many practice games have been played on the school courts, as well as on the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium floor here.

Registrations for the event will be made at 7:30 Friday morning, Feb. 13, at the Y. M. C. A., at which time complete lists of eligible players will be turned over to the officials, and the drawing for places on the schedule will be held in the lobby at 8 o'clock. The first game will begin at 9 o'clock, and the game will follow for every hour thereafter until 12 o'clock at which time recess for lunch will be taken. Play will be resumed at 2 o'clock and continue until 6 o'clock, when another hour will be taken off for supper. Three games will likely be played Friday night. Friday's schedule will be repeated Saturday until the semi-final and consolation games will be played.

Dan Lynch of Dallas has been secured as referee, Crabtree stated.

An admission charge of 25¢ will be made for each of the three periods on Friday, each of the three periods on Saturday, and 25¢ for the final game Tuesday night. When the Class B champion is decided, Thursday night, that team will play the Corsicana Tigers, Class B representatives, for the right to compete in the district tournament the following weekend.

SPORT NOTES

By PAUL MOORE, LIGHT SPORTS EDITOR

Steve Womack, sports editor, Mexia Daily News, for the past several years, has quit the racket business in Tyler, and recently brokerage business in Tyler, and Tuesday with his wife left Mexia for Tyler. Womack had been in the sport writing fraternity several years, and was well-liked among the sport writers of Central Texas. Womack has a number of relatives residing in Mexia.

Jack Quinn, veteran hurler who was released by the Philadelphia Athletics during the winter, will begin his twenty-eighth season as a professional baseball pitcher in the spring. He has signed with the Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League. He admits he is 42 years old, and is probably older. He is the oldest player in the big leagues.

The class B cage tournament will start on the Y. M. C. A. court Friday morning at 9 o'clock to determine the B title and to determine the club that will oppose the Corsicana Tigers Tuesday night for the county title.

Much interest is being shown by the B clubs in this tournament and Leroy Crabtree is of the opinion that there will be twenty clubs participating.

Corsicana Tigers annexed a couple of basketball games Wednesday night, trouncing the Coolidge Cobangs, 40-12, and then thumping the Ennis Lions, 58-7, the second team composed of Crowther,

CORSICANA DEFEATED
COOLIDGE 40-12 AND
ENNIS, 58-7

The Tigers outclassed both aggregations in all departments of the game, and the outcome was never in doubt.

Manager Dell Pratt of the Galveston Bucs will start spring training for his youngsters, Monday, March 9, a week after the Dallas Steers will begin their work in Corsicana. Dusty Bogges, utility player, well-known in various sports, formerly of Dallas and San Antonio, and a product of Waco and Baytown, has been signed with the Galveston aggregation. Bogges will be given a try-out as a catcher.

Bardwell is considered the strongest cage aggregation in Ellis county, and is expected to win the county title in the tournament which will be held in Waxahachie his weekend. Auburn and Burkburnett are expected to dispute it for the Johnson county flag.

Covington and others loom in Hill county, but no information or dope is available as to the prospects in Bosque county. Little is ever heard from their quarter until the district tournament is reached.

BODY OF MISSING
KANSAS GIRL FOUND
NEAR LONELY ROAD

NEWTON, Kas., Feb. 11.—(P)—Harvey county officers sought today in the shaying of Miss Lucille Price, 18-year-old high school graduate who disappeared January 24.

Her body, bruised and covered by cobwebs, was found in a ditch beside an isolated road southeast of Newton yesterday. Her clothing was torn. A set was missing from her ring. Rain had erased possible clues from the earth.

Miss Price disappeared after leaving Helen Spriggs, a chum, while walking home from the public library. Upon the expressed belief of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Price, that she might have eloped, Jack Binkley, of Wichita Falls, was questioned here Sunday. His was not held.

Miss Spriggs told police that she after Miss Price left her and proceeded homeward, a motor car which she believed contained two men and a woman passed down the street in the direction the slain girl had taken.

She was 170,000 unemployed persons in the state.

They asked that all relief funds be distributed through committees of unemployed and employed workers and not through charity organizations.

The committee that called upon the acting governor was Ingolf Dungee, George Ebert, Floyd Allens, Marie Harrison and May Anderson.

The acting governor said he would take no action on the requests, but would lay them before Gov. W. H. Murray upon his return here tomorrow from Springfield, Ill.

Looping field goals against the Coolidge and Ennis high schools almost at will, the Corsicana Tigers won two decisive victories on the junior high school floor Wednesday night when they defeated Coolidge, 40-12 and Ennis, 58-7.

In the beginning of the Coolidge tilt, Bardwell forward looped a field goal to take the lead, but the Tigers tied the score. Woody looped another to tie the score, 4-4. Corsicana then forged ahead and was leading at the first quarter, 11-4, when Hightower went on a scoring spree to make seven points in the first quarter. At the half, the Tigers were leading 15-5 when Hightower sent two more field goals into the basket. Corsicana was leading, 26-7, at the end of the third period.

Hightower was the leading scorer in the opening game when he accounted for seventeen points. Harris was second with 10 points. Lusk was third with 9 points. Lusk led the Coolidge clan with four points.

With the beginning of the second contest, Crowther, Owen and Ferrell looped field goals in quick succession before the visitors tallied, and at the end of the first quarter, the Bengals were leading, 10-1. The score at the half was 30-3, and at the third period, 46-7. The Ellis county lads failed to score during the final period.

A merry scoring battle was waged between Ferrell, center, and Crowther, forward. Ferrell scored 26 points during the melee, and Crowther accounted for 22 points. Crowther, however, was removed from the game late in the contest and was two points ahead of Ferrell when he left the game.

The club that represented the local high school in the second contest passed the ball better and showed better teamwork than the first club, but it should be stated that their competition was not nearly as strong as that of the first club.

ENDED PRACTICE GAMES

With the winning of these two games Wednesday evening the Tigers wound up their practice season with ten victories in eleven starts, and have scored 351 points to 209 by the opposition. The only contest lost this season was to the two-time national champions, the Athens Panthers. Victoria have been registered against Ennis, Southern Pacific, Oak Cliff (Dallas), Hillsboro (2), Highland Park (Dallas) (2), Mexia, Denton, Coolidge and Ennis.

The Tigers will meet the win-

JACKSONVILLE BANK PRESIDENT RECEIVES BOMBING THREAT

JACKSONVILLE, Feb. 11.—(P)—A. G. Adams, president of the First State Bank of Jacksonville, today revealed that he had received a blackmail letter demanding $14,000 and threatening bombing of his home unless the money was paid.

Although taking receipt of the letter lightly and stating he considered it the work of "some rank," Adams said the letter was being investigated by officers and that the communication had been given to a member of the grand jury now in session at Ruskin.

The letter bore only a Jacksonville postmark. Federal authorities were likely to make an investigation, county officers said.

The threat was signed "Scar Face Gah" and directed that the money be left at the right slight distance from Jacksonville not later than 10 a. m. yesterday. It said bombs would be placed under the Adams home unless the instructions were carried out.

Adams said he did not receive the letter until an hour after the time limit on delivering the money had expired.

SENATOR GLASS IS CAUSTIC IN RELIEF ADDRESS WEDNESDAY

TAKES PRESIDENT HOOVER TO TASK FOR OPPOSING RELIEF MEASURE NOW

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(P)—Senate democrats divided more sharply today over the drought relief compromise with Glass of Virginia, terming the $20,000,000 loan fund accepted by the party leadership and "abject surrender."

The Glass assault put new life into the attack against the compromise but senate leaders still were confident of a decisive majority for it and prepared to seek a roll call before adjournment today.

Glass described the substitute for the $25,000,000 Red Cross appropriation as "a surrender disguised with pretense."

The administration refused the Red Cross proposal and the house decisively rejected it.

"I am willing to surrender," said the Virginian, but "I am not willing to compromise our intellectual integrity. I am not willing to have people suppose that in surrendering, I am so stupid as to fool myself in any measure as to what this surrender means."

Glass said he was "utterly opposed to the extra session of Congress."

Two days have been spent largely in discussing the compromise with Senators LaFollette and Norris, republican independents, assailing it. Senator Thomas, as democrat from Oklahoma, also condemned it today.

"Depraved Conception."

Stating that President Hoover had "called a governmental benefaction, a socialistic dole," Glass shouted that this was a "depraved conception" of the senate's plan to help the drought sufferers.

"The president, whose fame rests upon prodigious expenditures from the social treasury in behalf of human suffering" the Virginian said, "has translated the proposal of the senate into a bitterly dismaying and poor nation."

Nearly Billion for Foreigners.

"In 1909 congress appropriated $800,000,000 for the afflicted people of European nations and the very terms of that appropriation were almost identical with the measure passed by the senate and so unseemingly characterized by the president."

Senators listened attentively as Glass went on: "The president would have the country believe that the senate's proposition was unprecedented. Why, it could fill a page of the Congressional Record with precedents, beginning as far back as 1862 when this was a struggling and poor nation."

"Although Italy has not asked for it, this act provided that in executing it, the president should request the approval of the Italian government.

"Was that a socialistic dole? It was the worthy response of a great nation to the cry of suffering humanity in a foreign nation.

"So, I might cite instance after instance of government benefactions that largely exceeded this one."

Hoover Imperturbable.

"Why, I happened to be secretary of the treasury in 1920 when the appeal came from the American Mission abroad signed by Mr. Hoover, imploring this government to take its full responsibility with other nations in relieving starving populations of foreign countries.

My proposal was important and President Wilson was peremptory in attempting to persuade congress to act quickly. Oh, it's sublime philanthropy to feed Turks and Armenians, but it's socialistic to feed American citizens."

"I recall to his credit that as chairman of the American commission, notwithstanding congress prohibited the use of $1 in the central empires, Mr. Hoover sent ton after ton of American food supplies into Germany, saying that women and children were suffering for food, he would recognize no lines of demarcation."

"Feed the enemy and yet through the medium of the press the president has arraigned members of the co-ordinate branch of the government as socialists committed to the doctrine of a dole."

Two Mexicans, Pancho Mendoza and Gonzalo Lozano, were arrested Tuesday and lodged in the Navarro county jail by Sheriff Pevhouse and City Officer Bruce Nutt on charges of robbery in connection with the alleged attacking of Simon Carrizales, Mexican, in Corsicana, Feb. 2, and the taking of $50. It was alleged that the victim was hit in the head and suffered severe injuries. The affair was reported to Sheriff Pevhouse Tuesday.

Both the accused Mexicans were still in the jail Wednesday morning.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(P)—More opposition to the relief legislation in the senate today. The republican compromise was offered in the senate today. The republican leaders doubting a vote could be reached otherwise, voted holding a night session to put the program through. Several senators stood ready to second the speeches against the agreement delivered yesterday by three republican independents, LaFollette and Blaine of Wisconsin, and Norris of Nebraska. Supporters of the $20,000,000 drought loan fund sat silent, waiting for the opponents to talk themselves out. They were confident the vote would find a commanding majority in the senate which, with the endorsement of democratic and republican leaders of both branches of congress and the approval of President Hoover, is to substitute for several disputed relief projects.

Before it could dispose of the plan, however, the senate was to vote upon the house measure to establish a 44-hour week for postal employees. This was set as a special order for early afternoon.

Adoption of the relief agreement also was complicated by objections to other features of the interior department appropriation bill to which it was attached, an amendment.

Speeches on individual affairs and other phases of the department's work were in prospect before the legislation could be voted upon.

The attack on the compromise has centered on the idea that loans under it would not benefit those most in need because of the security required. Foes of the plan also professed to see no justification for the views of democratic leaders. Robinson that food could be purchased by borrowers.

PRESIDENT HOOVER CLAIMED SUPPORTING NAVAL CONSTRUCTION

REPUBLICAN LEADERS PLEA FOR PRIVILEGED STATUS FOR LEGISLATION

BY FRANCIS M. STEPHENSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(P)—President Hoover's support for enactment of the naval construction program at this session was claimed today by the senate sponsors of the $90,000,000 construction bill. They renewed pleas to republican leaders for privileged status for this legislation.

The bill was recommended by Secretary Adams to carry out in part the ship building required to bring America up to its strength under terms of the London naval limitations treaty.

House republican leaders decided to sidetrack it for this session but met demands of navy advocates in the house for action on both the construction bill and the $30,000,000 battleship modernization measure which already has passed the senate overwhelmingly.

The republican steering committee has refused to be judged in the dispute in the senate as to whether the naval construction bill or the Sapper oil embargo legislation is to get the right of way.

Chairman Hale of the senate naval committee is going to take up the naval bill with the pending oil embargo dispute is settled. Senator Capper of Kansas, author of the oil embargo bill is prepared to undertake a similar step. The issue probably will be thrashed out on the floor.

Oil Embargo Action Urged.

With the session drawing nearer on March 4 adjournment, advocates of the oil embargo are open in a drive for action in the house, too. Aside from the drought relief and veterans aid legislation, there is slight prospect for action on other general legislation in the remaining three weeks, leaders agree, unless it be on the naval construction bill. The administration virtually pledged itself to this last summer, in agreeing to the limitations upon all classes of naval ships embodied in the London treaty.

From a navy expert, meanwhile, came a strong defense of the battleship which has been condemned as obsolescent by house members who feel that spending $30,000,000 on modernization of these craft would be a waste of money.

Rear Admiral Leahy, chief of the ordnance bureau of the navy department, said he was "out of step" with those who believed the end of the battleship was fast approaching because of airplane effectiveness.

Battleship Is Best.

"Let us suppose that the airplane could wipe every ship off the sea," he said. "Which would be the last ship to go?" Why, the battleship, of course. It has the greatest protection against air attack with its batteries of anti-aircraft guns, its heavier armor and superior compartmentation below the waterline.

INCREASED LOANS OR PAYMENT FOURTH OF VALUE PLANNED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—(P)

The house ways and means committee today narrowed consideration of veterans relief legislation to two proposals—one to increase loans and the other to pay one-fourth the face value of the certificates.

The committee is expected to approve one of the proposals tomorrow.

The loan is along the lines suggested by Representative Bacharach, republican, New Jersey, and would cost about $500,000. The one-fourth payment plan is sponsored by Representative Flish, republican, New York.

Veterans Administrator Hines has estimated the Flish proposal would cost approximately $850,000.

The committee continued deliberation after voting down three veterans proposals.

Chairman Hawley announced the plan for immediate redemption in full of the certificates was eliminated by a 13 to 5 vote. This was the Brookhart-Patman proposal, involving an estimated outlay of $3,400,000,000.

The committee, 10 to 13, Hawley said, has voted down the Gardner plan for adjustment of the certificates.

General Hines estimated this would cost $106,000,000 if all veterans took it.

The committee voted down, 10 to 13, a modification of the Gardner plan.

Hawley said that details of the loan plan were being worked out, to be presented tomorrow. Representative of the treasury and General Hines, he said, would be present "to give up advice on the two proposals."

ISSUANCE OF BONDS FOR VETS OPPOSED

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—(P)—Opposition to any veterans' legislation which would require issuance of bonds in considerable amounts was expressed today by Under-Secretary Mills of the treasury.

"Frankly," he said at a luncheon of the Bond club here, "I don't see how we could undertake to supply funds for this purpose to excess of the amount that could be raised as part of our current financing program."

Mills said plans advanced in congress for increasing the loan value of the veterans compensation certificate were drawn with "more or less disregard of sound actuarial principles."

The proposition of paying the face value of the certificates now, he termed indefensible. The Under-secretary predicted a deficit of not less than half a billion dollars at the end of the fiscal year.

"I need hardly say," he continued, "that we have all sympathy for the veterans who are unemployed, whose resources have been so restricted by the present depression as to cause them distress." But from the standpoint of all the veterans and of their families, it is clear that it is.

A Snob, A Sinner, A Savior; Old Story's New Meanings

Vivid Tale of Harlot Who Invaded Aristocrat's Feast and Christ's Treatment of Her — Something
About Ancient Evil and Modern Notions—
Has Sin Been Outmoded?

BY WILLIAM T. ELLIS.

"Sex" literature is nothing new. There are vivid passages upon it in the Bible itself. But the attitude of Scripture toward what it euphemistically calls "sex, irregularities" is as far removed from the attitude of modern writers as earth is distant from the sun. Morbid-minded moderns, erotic and neurotic, love to roll the subject of sex under their tongues; to taste it, and try to make it appear wholly delightful and desirable. Whereas the Bible bluntly labels unchastity, in man and woman, as sin; and deals with the unchaste on the basis of sinners.

After the Russells and Lindseys and all their school, have said their last putrid word in favor of unrestrained carnality, it will still remain true that the man or woman who have violated God's clear law of purity will be condemned as sinners, in the sight of heaven and of their own souls. "How can I do this great wickedness, and sin against God?" was the cry of Joseph, when tempted to a sin that many present-day liberals condone.

To every tempted man, to every tempted woman, who hears the seductive siren voices of sensuality, let the stern truth come that the Eternal God, who is unaffected by the day's fashion of religion, primitive and pagan self-indulgence, has decreed that unchastity is a sin—a sin against the sanctity of personal purity; a sin against society; and a sin against God. It is going to require years of effort to restore the world to sanity on the sex question, and to lift it out of the animal slough into which it has fallen; and one sure agency is the use of that unashamed little word "sin." For the sins of the body we must reckon with a disobeyed and derided God. That is the clear teaching of the Bible. The recent papal encyclical on the subject has helped arrest the attention of the world to this truth.

Enter The Scarlet Woman.

This old and ever vital issue is thrust into the present lesson by a scarlet woman who intruded into the feast that was given to Jesus by a rich aristocrat named Simon. There is nowhere left any room for doubt as to her status. She was an immoral woman, a sinner. Her sin was not cloaked in virtue, but in proportion to what fortune or industry or virtue has placed within it—Lan-self the "friend of sinners," that He might tell them to be no more sinners. He loved sinners; and hated sin the more for that. His patience and understanding were tender as His forgiveness. To the penitent, He was all compassion.

Sobbing out her sense of sin at His feet, the scarlet woman had bravely the averted or scornful looks of the feasters. Jesus, comprehending fully her contrition and his desire, clothed her in the white garment of forgiveness and sent her forth into peace.

What the world needs most to know about Jesus is that He forgives sin. Our contemporary vernacular has a variety of terms for sin, such as "complexes," "imperfect adjustment," experienced and that not God knows, and most of us ourselves know, when we are utterly honest with ourselves, that it is sin that separates between us and possible peace and power. What we need is a Saviour who forgives sin; wipes out the red and starts us anew in white.

Much travel in Europe once led me to make the generalization, "There are two kinds of people in the world: those who use soap and water, and those who use perfume and powder." A continental custom is to cover and conceal uncleanliness by sweet scents. The world, those who use soap and water, and those who use perfume and powder. A continental custom is to cover and conceal uncleanliness by sweet scents. The

Blazing Gas Well In Kansas Field Was Extinguished

CANTON, Kas., Feb. 12.—(AP)—Flames shooting from the United Petroleum Corporation's Kaeig No. 1 gas well near here for 18 hours were extinguished today by a nitro charge.

The nitro, brought here by plane, was put in place and fired by M. M. Kinley, professional oil and gas well fire fighter of Tulsa, who said that the two contracts would close out the gaps in the road from Corsicana to Galveston and Houston.

County Judge Nash said that it was learned that the letting of the contracts for pavement of 18 miles of highway 75 from Fairfield to the Leon county line and 11 miles of the same highway to Leon county was settled at the commission's meeting in March. These are gaps in National highway 75 and will be constructed out of the $5,000,000 federal allotment to Texas. Judge Nash said that the two contracts would close out the gaps in the road from Corsicana to Galveston and Houston.

Three men, burned when the well caught fire from the backfire of a motor truck late yesterday, were reported resting easily today at Newton, Kas. They are Pearl Bond, Canton; Harry Brown, and P. H. Schlegel, of Wichita. All are expected to recover.

The well, burning throughout the night, shot flames 50 to 100 feet into the air.

The well rated at 15,000,000 feet of gas daily, was brought in Tuesday.

WARSHTS AT GALVESTON

GALVESTON, Feb. 12.—(AP)—The United States cruiser Rochester and the destroyer Taylor arrived here today to remain through the Mardi Gras celebration, opening Saturday. A large crowd was at the docks to welcome the warships.

Simon's condescension felt buttressed by the incident of the woman; for he reasoned, had Jesus been a real Prophet, He would have known better than to let the poor creature touch Him. In the poor code of the Pharisee, self-righteous scorn of sinners was the only conceivable course of conduct. So he sneered at Jesus for not avoiding contamination. The Guest had committed a fault as bad as eating with the wrong fork!

A Snob and His Sneers.

Simon, the proud Pharisee who was host, was a snob. He even patronized the Preacher from up-country, whose presence as a guest in his house he had urgently sought, because he was a tuff-hunter. With a lack of breeding which showed his true character, Simon had failed in several of the usual courtesies of host to guest; thinking, perhaps, that this Countryman would never know the difference.

Simon's condescension felt buttressed by the incident of the woman; for he reasoned, had Jesus been a real Prophet, He would have known better than to let the poor creature touch Him. In the poor code of the Pharisee, self-righteous scorn of sinners was the only conceivable course of conduct. So he sneered at Jesus for not avoiding contamination. The Guest had committed a fault as bad as eating with the wrong fork!

A Seathing Story.

With a diplomacy and tact and scathing beyond Simon's capacity, Jesus rebuked his snobbishness and complacency—for He is ever the reader of thoughts—by telling a story which has ever since been one of the world's most prized pieces of literature. I quote it from the Weymouth Version:

"There were once two men in debt to one money-lender," said Jesus; "one owed him five hundred shillings and the other five. But neither of them could pay anything; so he freely forgave them both. Tell me then which of them will love him most?"

"I suppose," replied Simon, "the one to whom he forgave most."

"You have judged rightly," Jesus replied.

They turned towards the woman. He said to Simon: "Do you see this woman? I came into your house: You gave me no water for my feet, but she has made my feet wet with her tears, and then wiped the tears away with her hair. No kiss did you give me; but she from the moment I came in has not left me, tenderly kissing my feet. No oil did you pour even on my head, but she has poured perfume upon my feet. This is the reason why I tell you that her sins are forgiven—because she has loved much; but he who is forgiven little loves little."

And He said to her: "Your sins are forgiven".

Then the other guests began to say to themselves. "Who can this man be who even forgives sins?"

But he said to the woman: "Your faith has cured you; go, and be at peace."

A Scarlet Woman In White. There is all the difference in the world between condoning sin and forgiving sinners. Modern society's way is, the former; Christ's way is the latter. He made them

COMPLETION SURVEY AND PLANS FOR ROAD ORDERED BY STATE

Completion of surveys and preparation of plans on highway 22 between the Navarro Consolidated Road district No. 1 line and the Anderson county line was authorized by the state highway commission at its Wednesday session, enabling Navarro county to determine its exact state line, and to make the surveys and plans of $12,000 according to unofficial estimates, and when completed will enable the commissioners' court to take further steps to secure the final completion of the highway which will open extensive trade territory to Corsicana merchants.

Copies of the order were returned to the delegations who conferred with highway officials early in the week, which included County Judge H. C. Nash, Commissioner George W. Boyd, Ted E. Ferguson, president of the chamber of commerce, J. N. Edens, R. J. Jackson, Guy M. Gibson and W. O. Harwell.

The official order follows:

Income Tax in a Nutshell

WHO? Single persons who had net income of $1,600 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more and married couples who had net income of $3,500 or more or gross income of $5,000 or more must file returns.

WHEN? The filing period ends March 16, 1931.

WHERE? Collector of internal revenue for the district in which the person lives or has his principal place of business.

HOW? Instructions on Forms 1040A and 1040; also the law and regulations.

WHAT? One and one-half percent normal tax on the first $4,000 in excess of the personal exemption and credits. Three per cent normal tax on the next $4,000. Five per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Surtax on net income in excess of $10,000.

No. 10.

A taxpayer engaged in a trade or business in which both capital and personal services are material income-producing factors also is given consideration in computing the tax on earned income to which the 25 per cent credit applies.

The revenue act also provides in such cases that a "reasonable allowance for personal services" shall be considered as earned income. Such allowance is not to exceed 20 per cent of the taxpayer's share of the net profits of such trade or business. For example, a taxpayer received in 1930, from a business in which both personal services and capital are material income-producing factors, net profit of $30,000. The 25 per cent credit is computed on 20 per cent of $30,000, or $6,000. The amount payable is the tax on $30,000 less 20 per cent of the tax on $6,000.

Within the range of the second class of earned income are many kinds of professions in which individuals are associated as partners. When the facts in each case indicate that the proportionate share to each partner of the total amount of profit from the professional partnership represents compensation for personal services actually rendered by him, such partnership share is to be classified as earned income in the individual return. If such share does not represent compensation for services rendered but instead represents gain derived through the employment of assistants who do all the actual work, it is not to be classified as earned income to the taxpayers.

No. 11.

For income-tax purposes, there can be only one head of a family.

A head of a family, as defined by income tax regulations, is a person who actually supports and maintains in one household one or more persons who are closely connected with him (or her) by blood relationship, by marriage, or by adoption, and whose right to exercise family control and provide for these dependent individuals is based upon some moral or legal obligation.

Such person is granted the same personal exemption of $3,500 allowed a married person. Also, he may claim a credit of $400 for each dependent if the dependent is under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective.

The term "mentally or physically defective" includes not only cripples and those mentally defective, but persons in ill health, or the aged. Thus, a single man who supports in his home an aged mother and two sisters 14 and 16 years of age is entitled to a total exemption and credit of $4,700. The $400 credit, however, does not apply to husband or wife, though who aids or abets in the felonies of which a felony.

The house committee on education yesterday to continue its investigation of the placing of a series of chartered cities in the state at for rural state aid schools.

Representative Holder, chairman of the committee, said the resolution was amended to give the committee specific authority to investigate the practice, alleged by Holder to be prevalent in the state, of county school officials being paid a commission by installment book companies for selling books to the schools.

Mr. Hertz owns more than 3,500 books and documents on the life of Lincoln—about 1,500 more than there are in the New York public library—and he has read every one of them, including the latest, Edgar Lee Masters' "Lincoln's Children."

Mr. Hertz says about Lincoln's principal biographers.

William H. Heardon—"Worn out by the stress of the Civil war, he waited the 23 years, during which time he was subject to drink and drugs, before he wrote his story of Lincoln."

Charles F. Black, the son of Jerome Black, author of "Lincoln," hence, no matter how loyal Lamon was, the voice was the voice of Jacob, but the hands were the hands of Lincoln."

Written In Decline.

A. J. Beveridge—"His work is a fragment and written in the decline of his mental powers. He listened to the Southern clause. It would not have surprised me if he had lived to finish it—would have been Douglas instead of Lincoln."

J. G. Nickolay and John Hay, Lincoln's secretaries—"They produced a wilderness of facts about the Civil war, with a little of Lincoln thrown in here and there, with a great many of his phases neglected. But it is the best to date."

Bills calling for appropriations to cover registration and certification of citrus nursery growers.

REPLIES TO READERS

Don't Be a Mirror
Miss Y. writes: I can sense the moods and feelings of others. If they are cheerful or cross, I feel it and it affects me to a great extent.

Answer: There is a bit of wisdom in this saying. "If you bring a smiling visage to the glass you meet a smile. Now your words show that you are acting as the mirror, reflecting the moods of others. You are cheerful or upset in response to the moods of those about you. But why not choose to cast the reflection yourself instead of merely being the glass?"

Suppose your employer has had a bad turn in his business affairs and registers gloom in every move. It would be wise to start finding his mood help him at all or bring any satisfaction to yourself? Just try being the readiest and most helpful sort of secretary that a jaded business man could have, and notice how the lines of his face will lighten.

If your best boy friend looks a trifle bored there is no need for you to reflect his mood, for that will not make him enjoy you or himself. Give up the passive role and bring a little cheer into the situation on your own account. Tell him a funny story, or pass him some sincere compliment for, of course, he has his good points. He will soon reflect your mood.

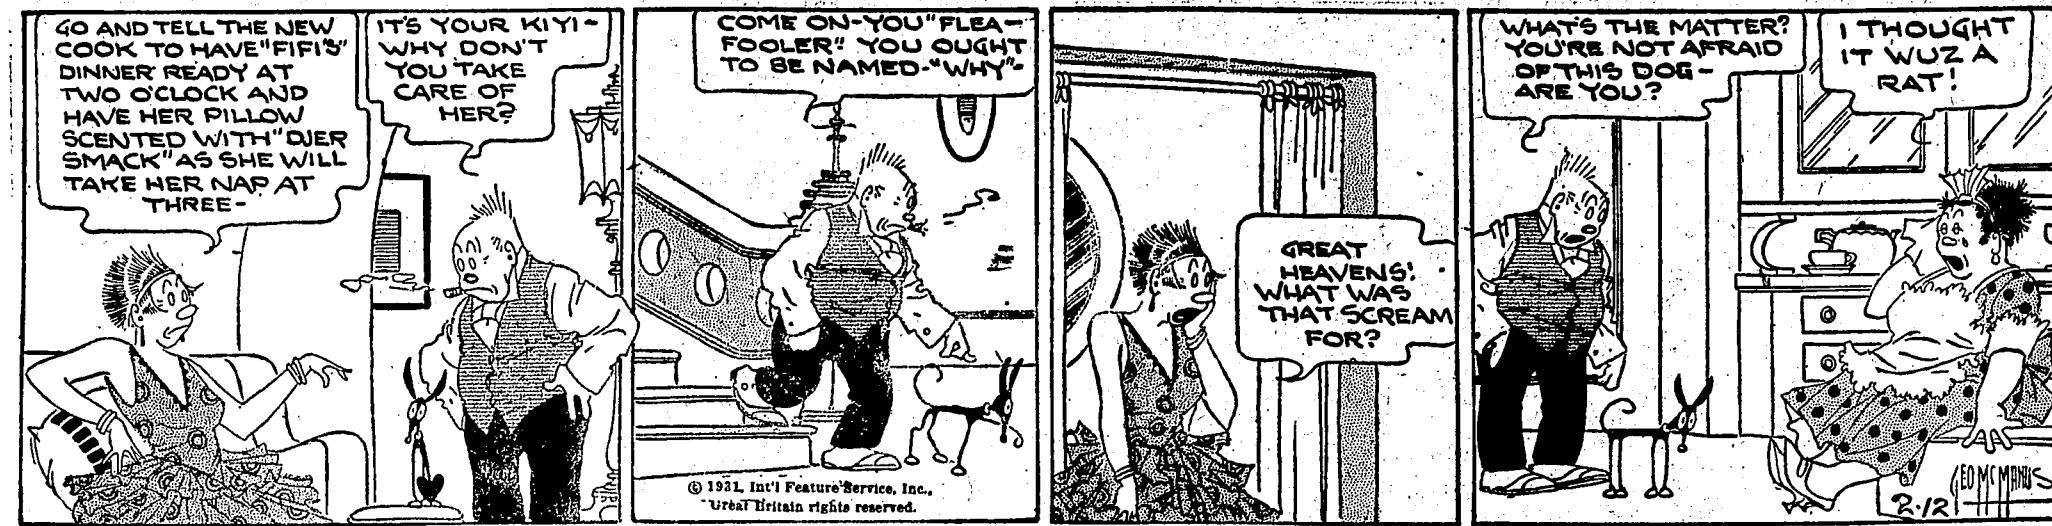

To say the chameleon changes his color to conform to the surface he rests upon. But your friends do not really want their blues reduplicated. Don't be a mirror. Be the smiling visage.

May Be Physical
N. A. M. writes: I have pains through my neck and chest, have lost a little weight, am bothered with insomnia and am likely to perspire when asleep. Do you think this is just a nervous condition?

Answer: The loss in weight may be due to the fact that you are not eating enough of the right kind of food. The perspiration may be induced by too warm bed covering. The insomnia is more than likely a result of self-suggestion. The pains in back and chest are not at all likely to be of grave significance.

But, since there is a question, the only sensible course is to let

You may be turning your attention to mild little creaks in the physical machine in order to blind your eyes to character faults that are there.

Take stock of both physical health and personality sturdiness, and give to each part of your dual make-up—the body and the psyche—just the consideration that each deserves. Don't try to cure a lame psyche by rest or drugs; nor to cure a diseased body by hunting for offending complexes. Maybe both body and psyche need a little overhauling.

DELEGATIONS CALL ON CONGRESS AND TEXAS LAWMAKERS

BOSTON, DALLAS, KANSAS CITY AND OTHER POINTS SCENES DEMONSTRATIONS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (P)—A delegation of communists who marched peacefully to the capitol today remained to argue with representatives and house attaches after they were refused permission to appear on the house floor.

An extra delegation of police men listened to the discussion as the group was told to give their petition to the sergeant-at-arms of the house.

Alfred Wagenknecht, Sam Nessen, and Sol Harper, New York negro, their leaders said they felt they should be allowed to see Longworth.

When Sergeant at Arms Rodgers insisted that the communists had no right to be on the house floor, Harper responded: "Your job is to see that the workers are beat into submission, so why should I give the petition to you?"

Representative Geedy, Republican, Maine, asked Nessen how long it had been since the Communist had worked at his profession. Nessen replied he had been a workers' organizer for two years and had not worked in his trade in that time. Then he asked Beedy how long it had been since the congressman "worked," and Beedy replied:

"I worked last night, and work most every night."

The argument subsided and the group was allowed to enter the house public gallery. They filled it quickly. Several plainclothes men were spied among them. About 50 gathered in the hallway leading into the gallery and there were lined up by capitol and metropolitan police. As their comrades emerged after listening to the proceedings of the house for a few moments, others were allowed to take their places. Two or three women were in the delegation. There was no disorder.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (P)—A group of communists laid piano today to demand from the floors of the house and senate enactment of a workmen's unemployment insurance bill.

Alfred Wagenknecht, head of a committee appointed last night at a communist unemployment meeting here, said he would ask speaker Longworth and Vice-President Curtis for the right to read his group's demands from the floor, while other communists would attempt to fill the galleries.

Capitol police immediately arranged for reinforcements to deal with any disturbance. Wagenknecht said his followers intended to attack the appointed places in the capitol singly. The use of the floor is never granted to any but the most distinguished visitors to congress.

The communist bill calls for payment of $15 a week unemployment insurance to idle workers, together with free food for workers' school children, abolition of vagrancy laws and similar plans.

The last time the communists made a drive on the capitol in early December when several hundred assembled to make demands for legislation. They were repulsed by capitol and Metropolitan police after tear gas bombs had been exploded.

Some succeeded, however, in gaining entrance to the capitol and presented petitions to both Vice-president Curtis and Speaker Longworth.

Captain S. J. Gnash of the capitol police said that additional arms had also been placed at the capitol. He said "we are prepared for them in event they desire to create any disturbance."

Police Guard Increased.

As soon arrived, police officers on the front of the capitol and the entrance to the house side were increased and no cars were permitted to approach the main entrance. No demonstrators had appeared.

As the officers, cameramen and reporters waited, Representative O'Connor, republican, Oklahoma, called the house's attention shortly after noon to the "threatened invasion." He characterized it as a "propaganda stunt to get in the newspapers."

"We will give publicity all over our country and to the communist movement," said O'Connor. "At daybreak this morning the movie cameras were lined up in front of the capitol."

"We should not lend ourselves to these creap publicity stunts," he concluded.

Just as some began to feel they were hoax victims Wagenknecht sent a letter to Speaker Longworth of the house notifying him a committee of 10 would arrive at 1 o'clock.

After receiving the letter, Speaker Longworth said: "If they have a petition they wish to present it will be received at my office."

Unemployed Arrive At Texas Capitol

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (P)—A group of unemployed, numbering about 100 men, in front of the capitol at noon today.

A speaker said they did not want "gilded" promises, but immediate relief. He said there were more than a quarter of a million in Texas out of employment. He said they couldn't live on "hot air."

The marchers carried placards on which were written such slogans as "Dallas—Work or Wages," "Workers and Farmers United," "We Are Coming Back," February 25." Placards listed the towns represented as El Paso, Houston, Austin, Galveston, Fort Worth, Dallas.

WIZARD OF MENLO PARK IN INTERESTING INTERVIEW ON EIGHTY-FOURTH BIRTHDAY

FORT MYERS, Fla., Feb. 11. (P)—Thomas A. Edison said in his 84th birthday interview today that he believed business conditions had begun a three-year return to normal.

The employment situation, he said, was "several sizes too big for him."

The questions were two of twenty-nine submitted to Mr. Edison, twenty-eight of which he answered.

"How long do you think it will take the country to regain the level of economic and business activity that prevailed before the depression?" he was asked.

Mr. Edison studied the question for a minute, and then wrote:

"Three years gradual rise is now started."

The interview took place before he joined the state and city celebration of his birthday to indicate the new $500,000 Edison bridge across the Cinnabashineka River.

His answers to the questions submitted him were as follows:

Question: Are we living at too fast a pace?

Answer: No.

Q.—Do we crave too many luxuries?

A.—No.

Whom do you regard as the finest outstanding men in the world today?

(Mr. Edison gave no answer.)

Q.—What achievement in your great career gave you the biggest thrill and most satisfaction?

A.—The phonograph.

Q.—What is the chief ingredient for success of a man's career?

A.—Ambition and the will to work.

Q.—Do you think prohibition is succeeding or failing?

A.—Succeeding.

Q.—Do you regard Mr. Hoover's administration to date as a failure or success and why?

A.—A success.

Q.—What is the best way to relieve the unemployment problem in America?

Mr. Edison studied over this question and finally wrote, "This question is in several sizes too large for me."

Q.—Are you in favor of the "Dole" system of helping the jobless?

A.—Am not in favor of any kind of dole.

Q.—If an honest, sincere, hard working man cannot obtain a job, what do you think he should do?

That's a "sticker," Mr. Edison said. Finally he wrote, "Turn him over to the Red Cross who represents us all."

Q.—Can America combat the steady growth of racketeering?

A.—Yes.

Q.—What is the condition of your health?

A.—Pretty good.

Q.—What is the outstanding development of the last ten years from a scientific standpoint?

A.—Too numerous to mention. Science is moving rapidly.

Q.—Are you in your present aims other than rubber research?

A.—Perfecting some old inventions.

Q.—What do you think of insis, as a rubber producer, as compared with golden rod?

to go into conference with Governor Sterling.

There was a moment's hesitation when Capt. Bill Sterling, adjutant general, told the workers that Governor Sterling was not in his office. A speaker referred to Captain Sterling as "a sherriff's deputy." The speaker said the workers could not be deceived and the governor was in his office, they would go in then and see him.

Rangers and members of the state patrol then ordered the marchers to "go back the way they came." They were again told that a committee could come back and see the governor at 2 p. m.

Communist Meet In Dallas

DALLAS, Feb. 10. (P)—A dozen Dallas police officers, on hand to prevent a possible riot or uprising, heard a lecture on communism by Capt. George Calvert, a semicircle in front of the speaker.

It was the first communist mass meeting of any sort ever held in Dallas.

Police Guard Increased.

As soon arrived, police officers on the front of the capitol and the entrance to the house side were increased and no cars were permitted to approach the main entrance. No demonstrators had appeared.

As the officers, cameramen and reporters waited, Representative O'Connor, republican, Oklahoma, called the house's attention shortly after noon to the "threatened invasion." He characterized it as a "propaganda stunt to get in the newspapers."

"We will give publicity all over our country and to the communist movement," said O'Connor. "At daybreak this morning the movie cameras were lined up in front of the capitol."

"We should not lend ourselves to these creap publicity stunts," he concluded.

Just as some began to feel they were hoax victims Wagenknecht sent a letter to Speaker Longworth of the house notifying him a committee of 10 would arrive at 1 o'clock.

After receiving the letter, Speaker Longworth said: "If they have a petition they wish to present it will be received at my office."

Twelve Arrested Boston

BOSTON, Feb. 10. (P)—Twelve persons, including two women and two clergymen, were arrested when police dispersed an unemployment demonstration of communists on Boston common today. One of the clergymen, the Rev. Robert A. Brakeman, former mayor of Peabody, was knocked down by the horse of a mounted policeman who was unkind.

The other clergymen was the Rev. Smith O. Dexter, rector of Trinity Episcopal church in Concord. The two had protested the right of mounted officers to force them to move from the crosswalks of the common. They said that they had not taken part in the demonstration and had created no disturbance. Rev. Brakeman was upset into snowdrifts and was carried away. They were induced to leave the common but later were arrested when they became involved in a discussion with other officers outside.

Brown insisted that to give the committee the information would compromise condemnation proceedings.

"Oh," Blaine said, "we will question you about that when we get to the St. Paul lease."

The committee has received testimony that District Attorney Dill at St. Paul, who had been engaged in condemning the St. Paul commercial station, has several times complained to the justice department against what he considered interference from the postoffice department.

After deliberating only a short time Wednesday morning, the jury in the case of the State of Texas v. Millard Cranford, 20, a defendant for murder, returned a verdict of guilty to the Thirteenth judicial district court and assessed his punishment at 90 years in the penitentiary. The defendant was sentenced by Special District Judge Ballard W. George.

Cranford was tried in connection with the fatal shooting of Mozella Jones, 18-year-old negro, in Corsicana, Jan. 12, 1

LONG SENTENCE OF FORMER INMATE OF ASYLUM REVERSED

COURT APPEALS SAYS STATE MUST PROVE ALLEGED SLAYER OF MAN SANE

AUSTIN, Feb. 11.—(P)—The court of criminal appeals today reversed and remanded the case of Ernest Young, one of two former inmates of the San Antonio state hospital alleged to have killed Johnnie W. Bradshaw, and to have thrown his body into the Guadalupe river.

Presiding Judge W. C. Morrow, delivering the opinion, said the state had to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that Young was sane in order to convict. He reversed the judgment on the grounds the trial judge did not make that fact plain in his charge to the jury. Morrow further pointed out the evidence was wholly circumstantial.

Young was sentenced to 50 years imprisonment from Kendall county on charge of murder. He and Homer Edwards were alleged to have shot Bradshaw to death, weighted the body with rocks and thrown it into the river.

Judge Morrow pointed out that Young had been adjudged insane and had been sent to a state hospital and had never been discharged. "Therefore the presumption exists that Young was insane and the burden of proof was on the state to prove beyond a reasonable doubt that he was sane," Judge Morrow said.

Young claimed Edwards killed Bradshaw.

The court granted the state's motion for rehearing and affirmed the case of T. C. Johnson, former Wheeler county deputy sheriff, convicted of criminal assault on a girl less than 16 years old.

Johnson was sentenced to 10 years imprisonment from Gray county. The offense was alleged to have been committed in Wheeler county.

Judge O. S. Latimore, who wrote the opinion, stated the complainant "swore to a state of facts showing one of the most outrageous courses of conduct by men in official position which has ever come to this court." Johnson denied he was guilty.

Convictions Affirmed.

The court affirmed the convictions of Jack and James Millaps from Orange county, each sentenced to 25 years on charge of murder. They claimed an alibi in the killing of Howard Booth, who was fatally stabbed November 28, 1929.

A 30-year murder sentence against Tom Shock, former police chief at Electa, likewise was affirmed. Shock already is serving a penitentiary sentence on another conviction. The case affirmed today was in the fatal cutting of Oscar Dougherty, August 28, 1928. He was sentenced from Wichita county.

The court reversed and remanded the case of Simon Hightower, negro, from Hood county, sentenced to four years for assault to murder in an alleged fight with a white man. The court held there was doubt concerning Hightower's intention to kill his adversary.

Will Caldwell, from McCulloch county, was denied his motion for rehearing. He was sentenced to five years for selling liquor.

The court affirmed the cases of Halle Spears, robbery, Wichita county, five years; C. A. Wright, burglary, Wichita county, five years, and Albert Schultz, assault to murder, Jefferson, three years.

Upon arrival of the ship here today they said that at the beginning of the voyage he seemed quite calm but later became agitated and drowsy. He was found on the promenade deck alone Sunday afternoon and while no one saw him actually jump over the rail the engineer, looking from a lower porthole, saw him fall into the water. He telephoned the bridge man that someone had fallen overboard. The captain ordered the ship to have to and had a life buoy thrown out but Cooper had disappeared in the choppy sea.

Nothing was found in his cabin or luggage which would indicate a motive for his act.

Cooper, who had retired, amassed between $5,000,000 and $6,000,000 in the liquor business and once was a saloon keeper in Detroit.

BANKERS OF NORTH TEXAS IN SESSION DALLAS THURSDAY
